

LANG 1406 Assessment Rubrics for Business Proposal (Full Version)

Written assignment: Business Proposal (30%) of total grade

Grade	A	B	C	D	F	0
Rating Criterion	Excellent	Good	Satisfactory	Marginal Pass	Fail
Synthesis (Individual 10%) You are expected to integrate ideas and information from multiple sources to create a clear, cohesive understanding of the topic and purpose.	Demonstrates cohesive synthesis from a diverse range of appropriate sources to support own ideas skillfully. - Synthesis is exceptionally effective, demonstrating outstanding use of highly relevant, credible and diverse sources (academic and professional/business-specific) to fully support ideas. Source use is highly purposeful and enhances and supports the ideas fully. - In-text citations and reference list are fully accurate in APA style with only one or two minor formatting issues.	Demonstrates synthesis from a range of appropriate sources to support own ideas effectively. - Synthesis is effective, demonstrating strong use of relevant, credible, and diverse sources (academic and professional/business-specific) to support ideas except in a few, minor instances. Source use is purposeful and supports the ideas effectively with a few errors. - In-text citations and reference list are mostly accurate in APA style with only minor formatting issues.	Effectively demonstrates cohesive synthesis from a range of appropriate sources to support own ideas accurately or appropriately. - Synthesis is adequate, demonstrating appropriate use of relevant and credible sources (academic and professional/business-specific) to support ideas. Source use is generally purposeful but may be at times limited/irrelevant/not credible in supporting ideas. - In-text citations and reference list are adequate in APA style but contain multiple formatting issues.	Adequately demonstrates synthesis from a limited range of sources to support own ideas somewhat accurately or appropriately. - Synthesis is limited, demonstrating minimal use of sources (academic and professional/business-specific) to support ideas. Source use may be superficial/limited/irrelevant/not credible in supporting ideas. - In-text citations and reference list are inadequate, with missing sources and/or matching issues.	Does not synthesize information from sources to support own ideas. - Does not synthesize information from sources adequately. - Hallucinated source or a source that cannot easily be traced.	No submission /academic misconduct

Grade	A	B	C	D	F	0
Ratings Criterion	Excellent	Good	Satisfactory	Marginal Pass	Fail
Audience Engagement (Individual 15%) You are expected to actively engage and persuade your audience by adapting your communication to suit their needs and expectations. You should employ techniques such as adapting the approach, tone, style to foster connection, encourage responsiveness, and maintain engagement throughout.	Demonstrates strong audience engagement through awareness of context, purpose, and expectations. - Audience interest is sustained throughout through adaptive communication tailored skilfully to their needs and expectations. - Persuasion is well-achieved through the thoughtful selection of content (problem and solution). - The proposal opens compellingly, presents information in a logical sequence, and ends with an impactful closing and call to action. - Sophisticated strategies are employed to foster strong connection, adapting approach, tone, and style with precision to maximize engagement and responsiveness.	Demonstrates effective audience engagement through awareness of context, purpose, and expectations. - Audience interest is sustained through adaptive communication to suit their needs and expectations. - Persuasion is achieved with an effective opening, content, a closing and call to action. - Effective strategies are employed to foster connection, adapting effective approach, tone, style to enhance engagement and responsiveness.	Demonstrates basic audience engagement with appropriate awareness of context, purpose, and expectations. - Audience interest is generally maintained with some awareness of their needs and expectations. - Persuasion is reasonably achieved with an appropriate opening, content, a closing and call to action. - Basic strategies are used to encourage connection, making appropriate effort to adapt the approach, tone, style for engagement, and responsiveness.	Demonstrates some audience engagement with somewhat appropriate awareness of context, purpose, and expectations. - Audience interest is minimally maintained with attempts to meet their needs and expectations. - Persuasion is partially achieved with a simple opening, somewhat appropriate content, and a closing. - Somewhat appropriate strategies are used to adapt the approach, tone, style but lacks consistency in engagement and responsiveness.	Does not demonstrate audience engagement through awareness of context, purpose, and expectations. - Audience interest is not sustained. - Does not select and apply content, organisation, and language appropriately in communicative tasks. - Does not use appropriate strategies, adapt the approach, tone, style for engagement and responsiveness.	No submission/ academic misconduct

Grade	A	B	C	D	F	0
Ratings Criterion	Excellent	Good	Satisfactory	Marginal Pass	Fail
Organization (Individual 5%) You are expected to demonstrate clear organization using the correct format (section headers, sub headers) and cohesive devices, to connect ideas and make them easy to follow.	Demonstrates sophisticated organization through seamless transitions and highly effective use of linguistic features. - Overall organization and readability are exceptionally clear and sophisticated throughout. - Transitions between sections or paragraphs are seamless and varied, using highly effective cohesive devices. - Sections or paragraphs are entirely logical and fully developed with a central focus.	Demonstrates consistent organization through coherent transitions and effective use of linguistic features. - Overall organization and readability are consistent with effective links between sections. - Transitions between sections or paragraphs are coherent, using effective cohesive devices. - Sections or paragraphs are developed with a central focus.	Demonstrates generally clear organization through appropriate transitions and simple use of linguistic features. - Overall organization and readability are mostly clear with evidence of appropriate links between sections. - Transitions between sections or paragraphs are generally appropriate. There may be one or two instances where cohesive devices are too formulaic or repetitive. - Most sections or paragraphs are developed with a central focus, although at times some interpretation is required.	Demonstrates basic organization with minimal transitions and few linguistic features. - Overall organization and readability are frequently unclear with little evidence of links between sections. A thesis statement or section (conclusion) may be missing or ineffective. - There are minimal transitions between sections or paragraphs. Cohesive devices may be ineffective and/or unnatural. - Sections or paragraphs frequently lack development and a central focus. Interpretation and/or a second reading is frequently required.	Demonstrates poor organization with unclear or missing transitions and little to no use of linguistic features. - Overall organization and readability are unclear with no links or connections between sections. - Transitions between sections or paragraphs are missing and/or illogical. There is no use of effective cohesive devices. - Individual sections or paragraphs are not logically developed, and the focus is unclear.	No submission/academic misconduct